Dear Robert Maldoven:

For more than 110 years communities across the country and the world have tossed their change into one of The Salvation Army's Red Kettles, creating hope and providing social services to families and individuals in need, one donation at a time. The Red Kettle has become a tradition and a symbol of the holiday season throughout the world. This year, thanks to your contribution to the campaign, many felt more at ease while making their holiday donation.

The safety and security of the ID Badges provided by Secure Image Corporation were invaluable to the program this year. The badges served many purposes and surely helped to ensure added success to our single largest fundraiser of the year. Not only did the name badges provided additional security by providing store managers with solid proof of a kettic ringers merits, it also served to provide reassurance to holiday shoppers that their donation was being delivered to a trusted source.

We thank you again for the quality of the cards that you provided to us. Not only were they personalized for our needs, the quality of the picture and the card itself was extraordinary. We were delighted to have such a luxury for our workers during the Red Kettle Campaign and are even more delighted that you would consider providing identification cards to our Disaster Services volunteers in 2004.

We would certainly recommend your work to any other organization or non-profit seeking to produce identification cards. Your organization has gone above and beyond the call of duty in offering your services, being available to help customize the cards and producing them on such a short turnaround for our program. We thank you tremendously for all that you have done for us.

Please accept our sincerest gratitude and we wish you the best in 2004.

Sincerely,

All cards shown have been modified for security purposes and are for example only.
